agreed to in writing by the Parties. Any illustrations will be submitted in publication-ready form as specified by Publisher. Journal Owner acknowledges and agrees that Journal Owner's control of editorial policy shall be subject to the right of Publisher to withdraw, retract or suspend access to any article that Publisher determines, in its sole judgment after consultation with the Editor, does not conform with the requirements of this Section 4 or otherwise does not conform to accepted international best practices for scholarly journals.

- ii. Publisher and its Affiliates or appointees shall be responsible for managing all commercial activity for the Journal, including, but not limited to the sale of advertising, reprints, supplements, sponsored subscriptions and other Journal business transactions. Publisher shall prepare, in consultation with the Editor, written information for authors ("IFA") that will be provided to each author and that sets forth among other matters, the instructions of Journal Owner to authors with regard to editorial and legal requirements preparation of articles, illustrations and tables, and the authors' proofreading obligations. The IFA shall also include policies on conflict of interest, human and animal rights, and informed consent, which policies shall be consistent with the requirements of the International Committee of Journal Medical Editors, COPE and other accepted international standards, and shall be subject to the review and approval of Publisher. The IFA shall also specify that only articles that comply with the IFA shall be accepted, and that articles shall be subjected to peer-review prior to acceptance.
- iii. Each issue of the Journal and all reprints thereof in any format shall include a disclaimer developed jointly by Journal Owner and Publisher regarding any guarantee or endorsement of the quality or value of any product advertised or mentioned in the Journal.
- iv. If style or layout changes to articles or tables of contents are requested by Journal Owner or Editor, or if new digital file formats or extraordinary materials of any kind are submitted, such requests, formats, or materials must be received by Publisher at a time mutually agreed by Publisher and Journal Owner in advance of the release date for the Journal issue in which the changes, formats, or materials are to appear.
- v. The Editor may allow authors to submit ancillary data to accompany their published articles in any format of the Journal offered via Electronic Media. Such data which will not appear in the print Journal and may, at Publisher's sole discretion, be posted without copyediting, typesetting, or other editorial processing by Publisher and will be designated as "Supplementary Digital Content." Supplementary Digital Content may include data sets, graphs, tables, audio files and videos and must be submitted in an electronic format acceptable to the Publisher concurrently with the author's delivery of the manuscript. Supplementary Digital Content files must be submitted in file formats and size limitations acceptable to the Publisher.

3. Journal Owner Rights and Responsibilities

a. Content, article style, selection of Editorial Board. Subject to 2(d) above, the Journal Owner shall have the sole right to approve content for the Journal, including the style in which the articles may be published. The selection of the members for the Editorial Board will also be decided solely by the Journal Owner.

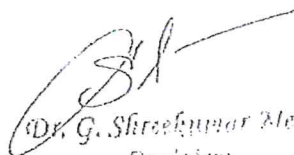

b. Subscription rates. Publisher will suggest rates for subscriptions. Journal Owner shall decide whether to agree to the Publisher rates or require that alternative rates are used. Notification of alternative rates must be supplied to the Publisher by August 1st each year. If Publisher does not receive such notification, then Publisher rates shall apply. If Journal Owner supplies rates by August 1st then Journal Owner rates will apply.

c. Copyright. Any copyright in the content of the Journal will be the property of Journal Owner unless the Parties have specified otherwise in the Business Terms. Journal Owner will be responsible for procuring appropriate agreements with authors and other contributors to the Journal to ensure that Journal Owner owns all copyrights in and to the content or, at a minimum, has been granted sufficient rights to the content to permit the Journal and all content therein to be fully exploited pursuant to the terms of this Agreement.

d. Publication practices; non-infringement. Journal Owner, through the Editor, will submit to Publisher prior to its approval of the folioed page proofs of each article an executed "Author Responsibility and Financial Disclosure Agreement" signed in favor of the Journal Owner by each author of such article and all related material and the supplier of any photographs, figures, and the like. Such agreement shall be in a form to be supplied or approved by the Publisher and shall require that all applicable authors represent and warrant that their articles included in the Journal shall not infringe upon any copyright or other proprietary or property right of a third party, shall contain no material that is libelous, an invasion of privacy, or otherwise contrary to law, and shall not be fraudulent, plagiarised or incorrectly attributed and that the authors shall defend, indemnify and hold harmless the Journal Owner, the Publisher and its Affiliates from all third party claims arising from a claimed violation of such representations and warranties, provided no settlement of a claim against either the Journal Owner or the Publisher or its Affiliates may be made without the prior consent of such party, such consent not to be unreasonably withheld.

e. Additional Responsibilities of Journal Owner. The Journal Owner shall be responsible for:

- i. Handling all correspondence with the authors and reviewers;
- ii. Checking all manuscripts for scientific and ethical integrity;
- iii. Proof-reading and approving the final content of the Journal;
- iv. Ensuring that all issues are delivered to the Publisher in the agreed format and in sufficient time to permit the Publisher to publish each issue on time;
- v. Paying all direct and indirect taxes on revenue earned by Journal Owner under this Agreement; and
- vi. Maintaining an accurate and up-to-date database of its members in a format acceptable to Publisher, which shall be promptly shared with Publisher as and when updated.

f. Exclusivity and Non-Compete. The Journal Owner shall not, directly or indirectly, engage, encourage, assist or participate, financially or otherwise (collectively, "Participation"), in the development or operation of a peer reviewed, print, web-based, or electronic publication, similar in type to a journal, in a field that covers an essentially identical subject matter as the Journal and competes for substantially the same pool of advertisers and/or subscribers, without providing the Publisher with a right of first refusal to enter into an agreement substantially similar to this Agreement for publishing rights to such publication. If the Publisher reasonably objects to the Journal Owner's Participation in such publication, the Publisher shall have the right to terminate this Agreement upon sixty (60) days' prior written notice.

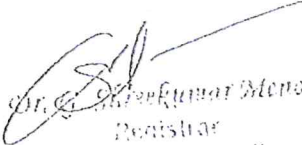

4. Intellectual Property Rights; Attribution.

a. Publisher is the owner or licensee of all Intellectual Property Rights in and to the publishing platform provided by Publisher to perform the Publishing Solutions, including without limitation the manuscript submission system and all software, graphics and designs used in connection with the Website (the "Publisher Tools"), and Journal Owner has and will not have any Intellectual Property Rights to the Publisher Materials.

b. Journal Owner is, unless otherwise provided in the Business Terms, the owner of the domain name and the Journal Content.

c. Publisher shall be identified as the publisher of the Journal through the use of Publisher's name and logo, which will appear at a minimum on the home page, footer text and "about us" pages of the Website and in electronic formats of the Journal Content and, if the Journal is also made available in print format on the cover page and masthead of each issue.

5. Payment Procedures.

a. Charges. Publisher shall provide Journal Owner with an invoice for all Charges owed to it by Journal Owner for activities performed by Publisher, as set forth in the Business Terms. Charges payable in advance shall be billed promptly upon the execution of this Agreement. Other Charges shall be due and owing upon completion of the applicable activity, without reference to whether the Journal issue with respect to which such activities were performed has been completed and published, and shall be billed following publication of each issue. For avoidance of doubt, Publisher reserves the right to charge Journal Owner for activities rendered in respect of articles that have been processed by Publisher, but that have not been approved for final publication by the Journal. All invoices shall be due thirty (30) days from receipt. Failure to make timely payments is an Event of Default.

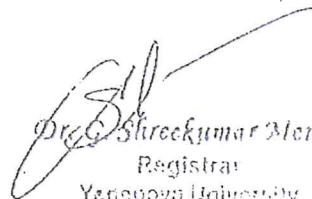

b. Royalties. Royalties to be paid by Publisher in relation to the publishing rights granted in clause 2 above to Journal Owner shall be paid following the clearance of all outstanding bills and invoices in full described in 5a) above. Publisher will send to Journal Owner a statement of the revenues with respect to which Royalties are owed to Journal Owner along with the invoices for the amounts billed in 5a) above. Each statement will be accompanied by payment of the amount shown thereon to be due. In making payments under this Agreement, the Publisher may withhold any amounts from any Royalties otherwise due hereunder as are required by applicable tax or other law or regulation, as well as the amount of any unpaid and undisputed invoices for Charges.

c. Minimum Annual Payment. If the amount paid to Publisher in Charges in any year of the Term is less than the Minimum Annual Payment, Publisher shall invoice Journal Owner for the difference between the amount of Charges and the Minimum Annual Payment for such year.

Journal Owner or such parties, arising out of, or relating to: (i) any misrepresentation in, or alleged breach of, any representation or warranty of Publisher in this Agreement; (ii) any failure by Publisher to perform any of its covenants or agreements contained in this Agreement; or (iii) any action, suit, litigation, arbitration or governmental investigation against, or threatened against, Journal Owner or such parties relating to the negligent performance or breach of this Agreement by Publisher. The obligations of this indemnification will survive any termination or expiration of this Agreement.

d. Indemnities by Journal Owner. Journal Owner hereby indemnifies Publisher and its Affiliates and their directors, officers, and employees, and agrees to defend and hold them harmless from and against any and all liability, damage, loss, costs or expenses (including reasonable attorney's fees and costs of settlement) incurred by Publisher or such parties, arising out of, or relating to: (i) any misrepresentation in, or alleged breach of, any representation or warranty of Journal Owner in this Agreement; (ii) any failure by Journal Owner to perform any of its covenants or agreements contained in this Agreement; or (iii) any action, suit, litigation, arbitration or governmental investigation against, or threatened against, Publisher or such parties relating to the negligent performance or breach of this Agreement by Journal Owner. The obligations of this indemnification will survive any termination or expiration of this Agreement.

e. Limitation of Liability. In no event will Publisher be liable for any lost profits, lost savings or incidental, indirect, special or consequential damages, arising out of use or the breach of this agreement, even if advised of the possibility of such damages. Except as provided herein all remedies, including, without limitation, the termination of this Agreement and all of the remedies provided by the law shall be deemed cumulative and not exclusive.

7. Term and Termination

a. Term. The Term of this Agreement shall be the Term set forth in the Business Terms.

b. Termination. This Agreement shall continue in full force and effect until the end of the Term, unless terminated sooner as set forth below:

- i. By either party by giving twelve (12) months written notice to the other party.
- ii. Upon the happening of an Event of Default as defined in this Agreement, by the non-breaching party giving ninety (90) days written notice to the breaching party that describes the breach with reasonable specificity and gives the breaching party a reasonable opportunity to cure the breach during the notice period.

The terminating party shall give the other party written notice of final termination at the end of the notice period, such notice to be effective immediately upon receipt.

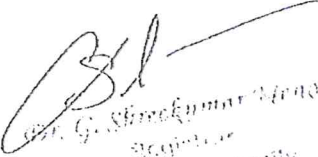

c. Effect of Termination. Upon termination of the Agreement, Publisher shall transfer control of the Website content (but not the Publisher Tools) to Journal Owner, and shall provide Journal Owner with a copy of the database of information on authors and reviews, and PDF files of all published manuscripts for Journal articles. Any registrations for the domain name associated with the Website shall be transferred to Journal Owner as promptly as reasonably possible. Journal Owner shall cease all use of the Publisher name and logo except as such are embedded in content published prior to the effective date of termination. Notwithstanding any termination or expiration of this Agreement or any other provision herein to the contrary, all perpetual licenses granted hereunder to third party users of the Journal and Journal Content shall continue in full effect and, in addition, the Publisher and its Affiliates may continue to distribute the Journal for twelve (12) months following such termination or expiration to the extent necessary to fulfill the Publisher's and its Affiliates' obligations under third party subscription and license agreements entered into by the Publisher or its Affiliates prior to such termination or expiration.

8. General Clauses

- a. Entire Understanding: This Agreement sets forth the entire agreement of the Parties on the subject hereof and supersedes all previous or contemporaneous oral or written representations or agreements relating to the rights and duties provided herein, and may not be modified or amended except by written agreement of the Parties.
- b. Force Majeure: Neither Party shall be liable for any default or delay on its part in performing any obligation under this Agreement if such default or delay is caused by natural disaster, accident, war, civil disorder, strike or any other cause beyond the reasonable control of such Party. In the event that either Party is prevented by such an occurrence or circumstance for a period of more than ninety (90) days from fulfilling its obligations under this Agreement, the other Party may terminate this agreement upon thirty (30) days' written notice.
- c. Changes only in writing: No provision of this Agreement may be altered except by a written document duly executed by the parties to this Agreement.

neither Party shall have the right or authority to bind the other Party nor shall either Party be responsible for the acts or omissions of the other Party.

- i. Confidentiality: The Parties recognize, accept and agree that all the information obtained or disclosed, including, but not limited to all data, documents, articles, applications, papers, statements, slips, programs, plans and/or any business, marketing strategies/plans and any and all other business secrets, confidential knowledge or information under this Agreement, is, shall be and shall remain strictly of private and confidential nature and shall be treated as confidential by the Parties.
- j. Taxes: Indirect taxes as applicable shall be borne by the Journal Owner and shall be in addition to the rates quoted in this Agreement. All payments made by Publisher to the Journal Owner would be subject to the deduction of withholding taxes as applicable.
- k. Consents: Wherever the approval of the Journal Owner is required, such approval shall not be unreasonably withheld or delayed.
- l. Counterparts: Original Signatures: This Agreement may be executed in two or more counterparts, each of which shall be deemed an original, but all of which together shall constitute one and the same document. Facsimile or Portable Document Format (PDF) signatures shall be deemed originals for purposes of the execution of this Agreement.
- m. Headings: All headings are for reference purposes only and shall not affect the meaning or interpretation of any provision hereof.
- n. Limitation on Claims: No action, regardless of the form, arising out of or relating to this Agreement, may be brought by a Party or a third party more than one (1) year after the cause of action has accrued.
- o. Misuse: Each Party shall notify the other of any suspected infringement of the other Party's Intellectual Property Rights that comes to such Party's attention. In the event of any infringement of any rights owned or licensed by the Journal Owner, the Journal Owner (i) shall have the right to bring action, (ii) shall exclusively bear the expenses of such action, and (iii) shall be entitled to all sums recovered in such action. In the event of infringement of any rights owned or licensed by the Publisher, the Publisher (a) shall have the right to bring action, (b) shall exclusively bear the expense of such action, and (c) shall be entitled to all sums recovered in such action. In the event of any infringement of jointly owned rights or any act that simultaneously infringes rights separately owned or licensed by each Party, the Parties will jointly determine (1) the course of action to be taken, (2) the sharing of expenses, and (3) the sharing of recoveries, provided, that the foregoing shall not preclude the Publisher and its Affiliates from separately enforcing contracts for the Journal directly against customers.

- p. Severability: If any provision of this Agreement is held to be illegal, invalid, or unenforceable under the present or future laws, then such provision shall be revised by a court of competent jurisdiction to be enforceable if permitted under applicable law, and otherwise shall be fully severable. In any event, this Agreement shall be construed and enforced as if such illegal, invalid, or unenforceable provision had never comprised a part of this Agreement, and the remaining provisions of this Agreement shall remain in full force and effect and shall not be affected by such illegal, invalid, or unenforceable provision or by its severance from this Agreement.
- q. Waiver: The waiver by a Party of or the failure by a Party to claim a breach of any provision of this Agreement shall not be, or be held to be, a waiver of any subsequent breach or affect in any way the further effectiveness of any such provision. No term or condition of this Agreement may be waived except by an agreement by the Parties in writing.
- r. No Third Party Beneficiaries: The provisions of this Agreement are for the sole benefit of the Parties hereto. This Agreement confers no rights, benefits or claims upon any person or entity not a Party hereto.
