No of participants: 125

No of Registrations: 250

Opening Address was given by Dr Gangadhara Somayaji, Registrar, Yenepoya (deemed to be) University.

Talk was Focused on the 3 issues:

- 1. Men & Emotions
- 2. Men and mental health
- 3. Taking care of mental health.

1. Men and Emotions: Societal expectations, inculcated from childhood dictate that men should be the breadwinners of their family, have "masculine" traits of aggression, stoicism, physical strength, & dominance. Boys are not accountable for their actions, boys don't cry...but boys need to cry...Only acceptable emotion is anger, leading to violence and substance abuse. Men suffer in silence. Learning responsibility helps them develop stable relationships & work.

2. Men and mental health:

- On average, one in eight men will experience depression and one in five men will experience anxiety at some stage of their lives.

- 3 times more likely to die by suicide.
- Men are still far less likely to acquire mental health support and therapy than women.

3. Taking care of Mental Health:

- Focus on emotions.
- Be aware of the sensations in your body.
- Emotion always manifests somewhere in the body. Anger might be experienced as a flush of heat in the face, sadness as a tightening of the throat, anxiety as a knot in the stomach.
- Take a moment to acknowledge the feeling(s) & understand what they mean.
- Learn to put in words what you feel.
- Talk about it: Greater support, lower isolation, lessens the burden /overwhelm
- Take the risk of showing your vulnerability with people who you feel safe with. Give yourself permission to be human; it can bring you closer to others and may even bring a sense of relief.
- Ask for help when you need it.
- Develop and maintain strong supportive relationships with your partner, children, family and friends.
- Do interesting stuff Broaden your interests and do things you enjoy. There is more to life than work. So much of a man's identity and sense of worth is linked to his work and what he contributes to his family and society. Engaging in hobbies and sport adds to our lives.
- Exercise: There is a link between physical and mental wellbeing. By taking care of our bodies, we take care of our minds.

Cope better:

- Write, box, discuss, meet a therapist
- Watch out for when you cope with alcohol, substances, anger, bottling up.

Resource person: Dr.Akkai Padmasali, Social Transgender Rights Activist

Founder - Ondede Organisation

Moderator: Ms.Chaitra L Shetty- Gender teacher YIASC&M

No. Of participants: 250+

The resource person started the session by introducing narrating her own life struggle as a transgender. She accepted herself as transgender and the result of self determination in life transformed her into a social activist. Even though the circumstances made her dropout from the main stream of education after her 10th standard , she learnt English in her life journey with self determination. She married a male transgender and is the first transgender couple to register their marriage.

Born as a boy in a lower middle class family in Bengaluru, her journey from Jagadeesh to Akkai is one of resilience and perseverance. During her childhood, her craving to embrace her femininity was met with aggressive resistance from her family and society. Her parents tried to 'straighten' her out by physical abuse. She was bullied and even sexually assaulted while in school. She adopted prostitution as a means of livelihood, though she did not let her family know the source of her income. Rather than ending her own life in despair, Akkai's way was to build a world she wanted to live in. In her twenties, Akkai quit sex work and joined Sangama, an LGBT rights group, and decided to work for better living conditions for the transgender community. Her efforts culminated in a landmark judgement by the Indian Supreme Court, to ensure equality and dignity to all citizens, irrespective of their sexuality.

She focused on the following issues of gender bias and stereotypes:

- Proposed Budget allocation for the upliftment of transgender community through education, health and occupation.
- Education policy should be favoured for transgenders
- Challenges in accessing medical care
- The draconian law of Section 377 of Indian Penal Code should be abolished
- Sex work should be legalised
- Implementation of the 2017 policies for transgenders
- Political and economic issues also not favourable towards transgenders
- Basic fundamental rights are refused and their cry also is not heard when crimes take place.

After a brief talk there was a lengthy discussion on the issues like accepting the TG as human, giving their rights and allowing them to come to the mainstream, involving them in social gathering and socializing with them to make a change.

Resource person: Dr.Sylvia Karpagam, Co- convener Karnataka Chapter of the people's health movement

Moderator: Dr. Melita Alva, Gender teacher, YHMC&H

Women in India face “extensive gender discrimination” in access to healthcare. The speaker spoke on the topic from 2 perspectives. It is gender bias in accessing the health care and gender bias within the health care sector.

She discussed many challenges the rural women faced to access health care.

- Shyness among Indian women to communicate their health related problems
- Lack of awareness about health hygiene
- Lack of accessibility, distance, no good hospitals
- Unavailability of specialized doctors and difficulty in accessing.
- Unaffordable cost of treatment and medication as rural women have no right on income and spending.
- Malnutrition and anaemia in women
- Women are more referrals to Psychiatric disorders like depression
- Occupational discrimination- like sex workers are deprived of health care accessibility.
- Usage of vulgar language and discrimination because of caste and religion.
- Documentation and proofs to avail insurance scheme and lack of knowledge regarding availability of services.
- Females are unrepresented in clinical trials.

Challenges within the health care sector due to gender:

- Top positions in health care industry are in men's hand.
- ASHA workers all are female, they are underpaid and not on permanent job.
- Majority of the nurses are females and even though they are experienced they are not given opportunity to be decision makers .
- First preference given to male doctors by the patients.
- Rampant exploitation in the name of gender in health care.
- The issues raised by women health providers are not viewed as seriously as those of men
- Domination by male doctors and their open usage of offensive language which is considered normal but not when a women does it .
- The structure itself does not allow women and it is a barrier for progress.
- Gender differences affect communication in the workplace.

Solutions for gender equality in health care industry

- Hiring pattern should be changed. Equal opportunities should be provided considering the credibility and skills and not gender .
- Inclusive policies should be changed other than gender, caste and religion
- Need for gender specific research in health industry.
- Integrated team approach is very much in need in health care industry and integrated medicine also.
- If women are facing problems , women should then be the leaders for change.

The session concluded with discussion and clarification by the participants.

The webinar was highlighted on two issues:

1. Gender perspective in a current context of pandemic
2. Gender perspectives In the context of Indian constitutional law

New issues have emerged regarding gender because of the pandemic along with the long standing issues which have refused to go away. Current issues in gender are:

- Pandemic
- Patriarchy
- Pandemic & patriarchy

Gender is a social construct, learnt or socially adopted behaviour. It is treated with particular role. Patriarchy is how we have been brought up, the roles practiced and learnt become behaviour and culture. Women are deprived of power and given a burden of responsibilities. Work life balance also does not exist for women. Patriarchy propagates the idea that women are not equal to men.

Pandemic heightens certain concerns with women:

- Domestic , sexual and gender based violence increased during pandemic.
- Work from home means that the woman is stuck with her abuser. Domestic Work burden is on women even though they have lost their jobs.
- Lack of access to legal advice & remedies
- Lack of social network and Innovative solutions.
- Burden of being the care giver for the children, senior citizen and sick usually is on the woman

ATTESTED

- Reduced financial independence and future prospects.
- Increased risk for front line health work force and reduced access to health care. Women make up 70% of all health and social services staff globally.

Indian constitutional law

It provided many privileges to women but accessing is limited due to lack of awareness and support. Special provision for women under the marriage law is provided for divorce in the ground of cruelty but fewer cases are registered because women always think from the view point of children and family and their bond with them.

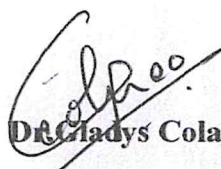

To build a just society of equality, men and women must fight against patriarchy, access to human rights without gender bias, empowering not only women but men also to take up roles equally.

The day's webinar concluded with discussion and clarifications.

Conclusion: According to the feedback from the participants the objectives of the three webinars have been met. The speakers concentrated on the given topic and their input was excellent. There was good response from the participants. The registered participants who provided feedback were given e-certificates.

Report of National Level Online Pencil Art Drawing Contest

Online pencil drawing contest was organized by Gender Sensitization Cell (GSC) of Yenepoya Pharmacy College & Research Centre (YPCRC), in view of the notification received from UGC, ref letter no F.No.17-4/2020-U.5 dated on 1st June, 2020. The letter mentioned that the GSC in higher educational institutions may conduct Webinar/Video Conferences on Gender Bias and Stereotyping Gender Equality and Women’s Rights, in view of ongoing COVID- 19 circumstances. Hence, the GSC of YPCRC decided to conduct online pencil drawing contest on the theme “Role of Working Parents in Management of Corona Pandemic”

This contest is conducted to create awareness on gender bias and stereotyping in management of corona pandemic through online platform and also to reduce the stress during this COVID-19 pandemic. It was a creative event in which the participants got an opportunity to share their talent.

The online contest had no registration fee. The registration started from 10th July 2020 to 22th July 2020. The registrations were done through Google form links which was circulated through WhatsApp and college website (www.ypcrc.in). Rules and guidelines were circulated along with the registration form link. We received 44 registrations for the competition and in which 33 participated and submitted their final pencil art through mail. Once we received the registrations, the confirmation mail, registration numbers & the rules and regulation for the participants were mailed to their respective registered mail ids from the committee. The committee members also decided to create a Whatsapp group with participants to address their queries and to communicate with them.

We received vast participation from students and Pharma professionals across the country. The art work received from the participants incorporated very innovative and creative ideas. It included the multi-tasking parents who played an important role in performing their duties related to jobs, house hold works, taking care of kid's health & education, cooking, grocery shopping, laundry etc. Some arts explained the role of parents as corona warriors such as police, nurses and doctors taking care of society and home. Few pencil arts explained do's and don'ts in management of corona. Some arts explained the mother and father sharing all the house hold works, management of kid's online classes, their online duties, financial crises, health education to kids and family members during lockdown.

Two external evaluators were selected for the judging the final submitted pencil arts based on their experience in the drawing and painting. The evaluation was done based the judgment criteria which includes clarity and ease of understanding, use of shades, imagination and creativity, neatness and finishing, relevance to the topic and overall impression. The result was announced on August 15th 2020. This group was dissolved after the announcement of results. The committee has provided E-certificates to all the participants and separate E-certificate for winner and runners up were mailed personally.

All the members of ICC actively participated in organizing the program. The poster for invitation was prepared by Mr. Mohammed Asif Iqbal, Vice principal, YPCRC. Centre for Ethics

Justice to the transgender population through dignity centered approach in healthcare (looking beyond binary) in Yenepoya Medical College on 18 March 2020.

Centre for Ethics arranged a guest lecture by Gopi Shankar on 18th March 2020. Gopi Shankar is an activist and founder of Srishti Madurai Student Volunteer Collective. His work was used as a reference by Madras High Court to direct Govt. Of Tamil Nadu to order a ban on sex reassignment surgeries on the just born intersex baby.

Many important issues were discussed by the speaker. One among them was about sex reassigning surgeries on intersex infants and how it goes against bodily integrity which is conferred to all individuals by our Constitution. The speaker also pointed how mostly the family and doctor decides to assign male sex to such infant which points towards underlying gender discrimination prevailing in our country.

The speaker also emphasized on the importance of knowing the difference sex, sexuality/sexual orientation and gender. The lecture pointed out how not knowing the difference leads to ignorance and could unknowingly lead to discrimination of such minority communities.

Another important take home message was that the term LGBTQIA+ was considered by their community as homogenous in nature while the people and the problems they face are in fact heterogeneous. They therefore prefer to be called as diverse SOGIESC (Sexual Orientation Gender Identity Expression and Sex Characteristic Community).

Report of the guest talk - 'Gender and Social Sustainability'

Place: Lecture Hall IV, YMC

On February 19th 2019 @ 11 a.m a guest lecture has been organized on 'Gender and Social Sustainability' by Gender Sensitization Cell at Lecture hall IV. Mrs. Merlyn Martis-Director DEEDs was the resource person. Dr. Gladys Colaco Secretary of the Gender Sensitization Cell welcomed the guest speaker.

The speaker of the day made detail presentation on the topic:

At the beginning she enumerated on the difference between sex and gender. Sex is biological and Gender is socially perceived nature. Gender is a behavior or perception. Sex is same all over the world, but gender differs area wise. Gender is a way how we are taught to behave. Gender is a social construct of men and woman. We all are part of society and transfer these perceptions to the society. Gender discrimination affects not only women, but also men. Men are also restricted to exhibit their emotions also considered as not able to work in caring responsibility eg: Anganwadi and nursing professions. Gender bias is strengthened through punishment and reward eg: mom is blamed for the failure of children. Sex ratio is going down, even through the female fetus has greater chances of survival is a good example of how gender bias influences society.

Speaking on sustainability the role of woman at various levels is not recognized. It needs to be recognized for example: Reproductive role of woman which is unpaid is not calculated as productive income. For the same work there is discrimination in wages. 25% of the families in India are run by women income only. Gender differences-influences health, education and job sector all over the world. Gender gap is observed all over the globe. India is in 108 place according to world economic forum report in education, Health and Employment. Considering food and fodder India is ranking 139 in world economic ranking. Economy will be influenced by women's participation. Women are not found in decision making and policy making position compared to past eg: Lokh sabha, Raja Sabha Only in the year 2005 inheritance law came to Hindus. The women reservation in Gramapanchayath was 33% and now it is 50% but no reservation at nation level.

What can be done?

Gender balanced perspective should flow in to the system. We should foster society with gender neutrality and gender equality eg: To achieve 100% literacy among women should have good rest room, toilets with water facility. This is the one example for gender perspective. If 48.9% female population is hungry, malnourished, no economic participation it is not considered as developed. To achieve sustainability empowerment proactive measures are taken by the government. Eg. CEDAW, POCSO, Domestic violence Act came into force. Laws do not assure change instead mind set need to change. Gender equality means not putting down the other gender instead both male and female need to be empowered and move towards growth at home, school, community and society.

There was interaction at the end of the session.

Dr. Leena K.C Principal, YNC convener of Gender Sensitization Cell handed over the memento to the guest speaker. The lecture concluded with the vote of thanks. There were 95 participants for the lecture session.

Report of Hear Me Too Campaign

During 16 days of activism in November and December , Between “International Day for the elimination of Violence against women” on 25th Nov and & “Human Rights Day” on 10th of December different activities are conducted worldwide by world bodies such as the UN for raising awareness on the topic of Gender based violence.

Gender based violence against women and girls are a topic which is still very present in our society. Its impact ranges from immediate to long-term with multiple physical, sexual and mental consequences for woman and girls, including death. Although gender based violence is a grave violation of human rights and most countries have laws against domestic violence and sexual assault, around 70% of all women experienced some form of gender based violence in their life. Not enough is done to prevent violence and we believe that the first step to do so is to raise awareness on the topic and give people the opportunity to stand up for themselves and show support for the victims.

Sofia Hellenthal and Leoni Alewell, are German volunteers who are doing volunteer service with the German government-sponsored “weltwärts” program in India for eleven months. They are working with the CODP, Mangalore with a special focus on the women’s empowerment program.

We, at Yenepoya (Deemed to be University) know how important it is to use occasions like this in order to bring change into the mind of people. Therefore, a one day awareness program was conducted on 13th Dec 2018 in the University premises with the help of the two German Volunteers to raise awareness on this burning issue and show solidarity to the movement. This will be related to the UN women’s campaign “Orange the World” and this year’s slogan” hear me too”.

Students of the constituent colleges of the University, Both male & female enthusiastically participated in the campaign and an exchange of thoughts and discussions were held on the topic. A banner containing the hand prints of the students was created to express solidarity to the cause.

Mrs.Sunitha Prabhu, student welfare officer coordinated the programme.

Report on Women's Day Celebration

Skillful Session by Mrs.Kavya

On account of Women's Day Celebration, Anti Women Harassment Cell organized a workshop on jewelry making and preparing decorative wall hangings. Mrs Kavya , Lecturer in English along with the assistant of Thabseera taught us to make the jewelries and the hangings. The session started at 1:30 pm. All the girls came up with their talent and were amazed to see their hidden talent. The earrings and decorative wall hangings were prepared with the help of quilling papers and silk threads. Fashionable earring and its various forms and shapes that can be made out of quilling paper and silk thread were shown in the session.

The session concluded at 2:00 pm. Mrs Kavya made the students discover the creativity within us. Overall, the program was a good learning experience.

Guidelines for Gender Champions

1. Introduction

Gender socialization of both boys and girls begins early, and it is important to initiate change processes at a young age to shape attitudes and transform behaviors. Schools and colleges play a major role in this regard, because students spend large amounts of time engaged with peers in such settings. Creating positive social norms in educational institutions that value girls and their rights is important to improve the well-being of girls and achieve long-term and sustainable social change.

India is home to around 232 million individuals aged 15-24 years, who account for 19.15% of the country's population. Engaging with these young boys and girls is crucial to help them critically assess notions of masculinity and question prevailing gender inequities. We need to tap into the goodness and sense of justice of these young boys and girls, and give them tools for maintaining those gifts as they encounter people and experiences that are different from their own. We need to engage with these boys and girls to challenge and shift gender norms that contribute to girls and women having less worth, opportunities and decision-making ability than boys and men.

In order to promote gender equality, guaranteed by Article 15 of the Indian Constitution, we need to change the mode of interaction at all levels - home, school, workplace and so on. To increase the outreach for creating an environment that fosters equal treatment, Government of India envisages engagement of Gender Champions in all schools and colleges across the country. Gender Champions can be both boys and girls above 16 years of age enrolled in educational institutions. It is a joint initiative of the Ministry of women and Child Development and Ministry of Human Resource Development.

2. Vision

Gender Champions are envisaged as responsible leaders who will facilitate an enabling environment within their schools/colleges/academic institutions where girls are treated with dignity and respect. They will strengthen the potential of young girls and boys to advocate for gender equality and monitor progress towards gender justice.
