Can you not see our mother earth hurt?
Expelling yellow fumes, bare lands as that of sky,
Trees trumbling down, crude oil filled oceans.
Is this the environment that surrounds me?
And is this the earth that's to sustain life?

It's the appropriate time to wake up and look out for our Mother Earth.
She is crying in agony,
Soon that cries will turn to gloom.
Just like unimaginable, mind blogging,
unfathomable.

Still the sky is blue, sun is rising,
The Warblers are flying,
And the breath of wind is so cool.
Mother Earth is trying her peak level,
for preserving her green dress forever.

Let's make her the pre-eminent
By making her pollution free,
And protect her green clothing
For ourselves and for the future.
