About The University

Genesis

Yenepoya (Deemed to be University) is sponsored by the Islamic Academy of Education, which is a not-for-profit trust committed to promoting education among minorities. The Academy was established in 1991 under the chairmanship of the philanthropist, Mr. Yenepoya Abdulla Kunhi.

The Academy was focused on health sciences since it would not only promote education but also the health and well-being of society. With this vision, the Academy started Yenepoya Dental College in the year 1992. The commitment of the Academy was to serve the entire spectrum of the student population. This was envisaged by starting Yenepoya Institute of Nursing Sciences in 1994, followed by Yenepoya Medical College in 1999, Yenepoya Nursing College in 2003, and Yenepoya Physiotherapy College in 2004.

Commitment to quality of education encouraged the Academy to consolidate and upgrade the affiliated colleges to the status of a national University. The efforts of the Academy bore fruits in 2008 when the then Ministry of Human Resource Development of the Government of India on the recommendation of the University Grants Commission notified the formation of Yenepoya University comprising of four constituent units viz., Yenepoya Dental College, Yenepoya Medical College, Yenepoya Nursing College, and Yenepoya Physiotherapy College.

Yenepoya University became the first private University in the Dakshina Kannada district of Karnataka State. The University was renamed Yenepoya (Deemed to be University) in 2018.

Logo

The Yenepoya University adopted the logo of 'Rabbi Zidni Ilma' meaning 'O Lord increase me in knowledge'.

The logo reflects the rich ideals and the core values upon which the very foundations have been built. The colours on the shield are a salutation to the three key facets of the University – the mentor, the materials and the medium – through which this increase takes place, and are also representative of them.

Green embodies life and the giver thereof. Green is the colour of paradise, the ultimate destination for all knowledge seekers. Just as the azure sky, wraps the Earth, blue symbolizes protection. Blue is synonymous with scholastic achievements and the success the institution has to its credit. And last but not the least, grey symbolizes stability and dependability. It stands for the staunch guiding (governing) principles and discipline that our students and our institutions are known for.

The shield, symbolic of a reputed seat of learning is adorned with (emblazoned with) the motto 'Rabbi Zidni Ilma' on the ribbon below. The words in Arabic, taken from the Holy Quran, literally translate into the meaningful phrase – 'Lord, increase me in knowledge' – indeed the very frame, the life plasma and the purpose of the institution, all its faculties and facilities.

Milestones

The University, with a vision to diversify its academic offering, started Yenepoya Pharmacy College and Research Center and Yenepoya Institute of Arts, Science, Commerce and Management in 2017. Further on, the health sciences discipline was expanded by starting Yenepoya Ayurveda Medical College and Hospital and Yenepoya Homeopathic Medical College and Hospital in 2018, Yenepoya Naturopathy and Yogic Sciences College and Hospital in 2020, Yenepoya School of Allied Health Sciences in 2020 and Yenepoya School of Engineering and Technology in 2024.

OUTREACH ACTIVITIES

Directorate of Extension and Outreach Activities

Director

The Directorate of Extension and Outreach Activities has continued to play a vital role in building strong linkages between the University and the wider community during the academic year 2024-25. True to its mandate, the Directorate has strived to transform education into an engine of social good by mobilizing students, faculty, and resources to directly address community needs. Through its diverse programs, the Directorate has emphasized not only the transfer of knowledge but also the practical application of skills in the service of society.

The year under review was marked by remarkable progress in the areas of health, social empowerment, and holistic well-being. A total of 293 outreach programs and camps were conducted, covering a broad spectrum of activities ranging from medical and dental check-ups to AYUSH-based health promotion and social awareness campaigns. These initiatives reached 33,864 beneficiaries across rural and urban settings, and in the process, provided 4,201 referrals for specialized care. Importantly, 425 of these referrals translated into hospital visits, ensuring continuity of healthcare services. The programs witnessed massive student engagement, with 4,201 student volunteers actively participating under the guidance of 597 faculty members. These numbers reflect not only the scale but also the depth of the University's commitment to extension work.

One of the standout contributors to this effort was the Rural Health Care and Development

Centre (RHCD). During the year, RHCD organized 65 outreach programs, benefitting 11,095 people from underserved rural communities. These camps generated 213 referrals, and 16 patients subsequently availed treatment at the hospital. With the dedicated involvement of 591 student volunteers, RHCD addressed key health concerns such as maternal and child health, nutrition, sanitation, and preventive care. The Centre's ability to build trust and long-term engagement with rural households has made it a cornerstone of the Directorate's rural outreach strategy.

The Department of Social Work (MSW) brought in the social dimension to outreach by organizing 14 programs, benefitting 1,778 individuals. With 296 students and 18 faculty members contributing actively, these initiatives were successful in raising awareness on women's rights, child protection, social justice, and community education. The department also provided 296 referrals, with 6 patients reaching the hospital for further care. Although fewer in number compared to other departments, MSW activities carried strong qualitative impact as they directly engaged with vulnerable groups and addressed the root social determinants of health and well-being.

The Dental faculty emerged as one of the most impactful contributors, conducting 64 dental outreach programs that benefitted 4,540 individuals. Dental check-ups in schools and community centers, oral hygiene awareness campaigns, and early detection of oral diseases were among the highlights. What makes these efforts particularly noteworthy is the scale of referrals generated - 2,617 patients were identified and referred to hospitals for further treatment. These initiatives underline the importance of preventive dentistry and showcase how large-scale student mobilization can lead to measurable improvements in community health outcomes.

The Department of Community Medicine conducted 49 outreach programs, benefitting 5,626 people. The department's interventions included vaccination drives, nutrition awareness, sanitation campaigns, and lifestyle disease prevention. A total of 10 referrals were provided, and 3 patients visited the hospital for follow-up care. These programs demonstrated the department's ability to blend scientific rigor with practical service delivery, thereby ensuring that medical students experienced firsthand the challenges and solutions in public health.

The Zulekha Yeneoya Institute of Oncology unit (ZYIO) added to the outreach efforts with 37 programs, benefitting 6,492 individuals. These programs generated 547 referrals, of which 6 patients visited the hospital. With the active involvement of 547 student volunteers, ZYIO focused on diagnostic screenings, specialized health services, and technical support, thus expanding access to quality healthcare for populations that otherwise lack such services.

The Naturopathy faculty significantly contributed to AYUSH-centered wellness by organizing 25 programs, benefitting 1,643 individuals. With 227 students participating, the camps introduced communities to naturopathic practices such as yoga, lifestyle modification, and stress management. These programs reinforced the importance of preventive and holistic healthcare, encouraging communities to adopt sustainable health practices rooted in traditional wisdom.

The Homoeopathy faculty carried forward the spirit of integrative health with 13 outreach activities, reaching 554 beneficiaries. The department provided 69 referrals, with 12 patients visiting hospitals for treatment. The programs focused on affordable home remedies, preventive awareness, and the holistic management of health issues. While smaller in scale, the homoeopathy initiatives were critical in enhancing the accessibility of healthcare, especially in communities with limited resources.

The Ayurveda faculty also made an impressive contribution by organizing 26 programs, benefitting 2,136 people. These camps generated 449 referrals, with 143 individuals visiting hospitals for advanced care. With the enthusiastic involvement of 449 students and 143 faculty members, the programs featured herbal plantation drives, Ayurveda awareness sessions, and preventive medicine consultations. These activities not only supported public health but also contributed to environmental sustainability by reviving traditional practices like herbal cultivation.

Taken together, the efforts across all faculties and departments demonstrate the strength of a multi-disciplinary approach to community engagement. The integration of modern medical sciences, dental health, public health, social sciences, and traditional AYUSH systems created a holistic model of outreach that addressed the diverse needs of communities. The Directorate's programs were not limited to service delivery alone; they also created awareness, promoted behavioral change, and encouraged community ownership of health and well-being.

The active participation of 4,201 students was a defining aspect of the year's outreach. Students reported enhanced leadership skills, teamwork, empathy, and a sense of civic duty as a result of their direct involvement in community service. Faculty involvement, with 597 members mentoring students and guiding activities, added academic depth and ensured the professional quality of services rendered. Partnerships with local organizations, NGOs, and panchayats played a vital role in extending the reach and sustainability of these programs.

The achievements of the Directorate during 2024–25 are commendable, yet challenges were not absent. Nevertheless, the year's experiences have laid the groundwork for innovative strategies, including digital outreach platforms, hybrid health education models, and stronger integration with local health systems.

Looking ahead, the Directorate envisions scaling up school-based health and awareness programs, expanding AYUSH-centered wellness models, and focusing more intensively on lifestyle disease prevention and environmental sustainability. Greater emphasis will be placed on capacity building for students and faculty to strengthen the long-term impact of outreach initiatives.

In conclusion, the Annual Report 2024-25 of the Directorate of Extension and Outreach Activities reflects a year of impactful community engagement, meaningful student involvement, and strong partnerships. With 293 programs reaching 33,864 beneficiaries, generating thousands of referrals, and engaging both modern and traditional healthcare systems, the Directorate has demonstrated that higher education institutions can serve as powerful agents of social transformation. The vision for the coming years is to build on this momentum, deepen community linkages, and innovate sustainable outreach models that ensure lasting societal impact.

National Service Scheme

Program Coordinator
Dr. Ashwini Shetty

The National Service Scheme (NSS) has successfully carried out a wide range of community-focused activities during the academic year 2024–25, engaging over 6,400 student volunteers across 64 units. These initiatives were designed to promote health, environmental responsibility, national integration, and youth development.

A major highlight was the Tribal Health Initiative in collaboration with the Government of Karnataka. Through 120 health camps, NSS volunteers screened over 10,234 tribal individuals for non-communicable diseases like diabetes and hypertension, Anaemia and cancer. A malnutrition intervention project was implemented with nutrition education and awareness campaigns targeting vulnerable tribal communities.

The university successfully organized the District-Level Youth Festival - Kalasiri, which brought together vibrant student talents from across the region. This event fostered cultural expression and encouraged youth to showcase their skills in performing and visual arts.

In a major professional development initiative, a State-Level NSS Programme Officer Training was organized, based on the Empanelled Training Institute (ETI) model, aimed at equipping NSS Programme Officers with advanced leadership, documentation, and coordination skills. Further extending its outreach in skill development, the university collaborated with the Forest Department, Government of Karnataka, to conduct First Aid Training for the staff of the Mysore Zoological Park, enhancing their emergency preparedness and response capabilities.

The University was also selected as the official Master Training Center for "MeraYuva Bharat (MY Bharat)" by the Government of India, aimed at training key officers from various educational institutions. Dr. Ashwini Shetty and Mr. Rajesh Karkera underwent an intensive three-day master trainer course at the Institute of Public Health, New Delhi, to spearhead this statewide youth movement.

On the international front, the university took the lead in organizing two major events. The International Youth Conference, held from May 15–17, 2025, in association with the Ministry of Youth Affairs and Sports, Government of India, saw participation from over 650 youth delegates representing 20 Indian states, along with resource persons from six countries promoting intercultural exchange, global leadership, and youth policy dialogue.

Adding to this milestone, the university also hosted the International Conference in collaboration with the Department of Youth Empowerment and Sports, Government of Karnataka, which brought together over 800 youth participants from 18 Indian states, along with five international experts on June 4th to 6th 2025. This conference focused on themes such as social innovation, youth leadership, health, and climate action, offering a platform for students to engage in high-level policy and development discussions.

The Hon'ble Governor of Karnataka presented state-level NSS awards to Mr. Pavitra Shetty (Programme Officer) and volunteers Mr. Nishwan and Ms. Dhanyashree. Additionally, 10 programme officers and 24 volunteers received university-level awards, recognizing 10 top-performing NSS units. The university made its mark in national events, with Ms. Niharika selected as the special guest of the Prime Minister at the Republic Day Parade 2025. Four students participated in the Pre-RD Camp at Davangere University, and two were chosen for the State Republic Day Parade. Eight NSS volunteers represented the university at the National Youth Festival held at Karnataka RDPR University, Gadag. Students also took part in National Integration Camps at Gulbarga University, St. Joseph's College (Bangalore), and Seshadripuram College, showcasing leadership and cultural talents on a national platform..

Special rural camps were held in Bantwala, Kuppepadavu, Saralikatte, and Balepuni Panchayat. These week-long residential camps focused on health education, blood grouping, hygiene, and leadership development, allowing students to live and work closely with village communities.

Over 50 health awareness campaigns were conducted, including dengue and malaria prevention (covering 100+ households), breast cancer awareness, epilepsy education, and sessions on passive smoking, AIDS, Hypertension, and the Good Samaritan Law. Five blood donation drives were held across YPC, YSAHS, AYUSH, KSRP Assaigoli, and a government school, involving over 500 students, faculty, and police officers. Swachhata Hi Seva was observed through clean-up drives at railway stations, beaches (Panambur, Tannirbhavi, Ullal, Someshwara), government schools, and Anganwadis. Over 600 student volunteers and 50 faculty members took part in these efforts. Wellness initiatives included International Yoga Day celebrations and workshops on stress management and occupational balance, conducted by the Occupational Therapy and Naturopathy departments. The university also hosted a national conference on "Mental Health and Well-being in Youth" in January 2025.

Workshops on disaster preparedness, self-defense, nutrition labeling, and leadership development further empowered volunteers. Campaigns such as "Mera Pehla Vote Desh Ke Liye," "Ek Paudha Maa Ke Naam," and Vanamahotsava were also conducted, strengthening civic awareness.

In conclusion, the NSS units have delivered an eventful, impactful, and service-driven year with diverse engagements that resonate with the core values of NSS-Not Me, But You. Through active participation in national camps, rural outreach, health campaigns, cleanliness drives, and youth empowerment programs, our volunteers have made a significant difference in the lives of others while growing as socially responsible citizens.

Youth Red Cross

Nodal Officer

Mrs. Nithyashree B. V.

The Youth Red Cross (YRC) was established in 2019. All the constituent colleges now host YRC units, affiliated with the Indian Red Cross Society, Karnataka State branch, and led by dedicated program officers. The core mission is to inculcate humanitarian service and build social values among youth through a robust program of training, workshops, and camps. Key activities encompass health awareness and hygiene, leadership and communication skills, first aid in emergencies, disaster preparedness and mitigation, and crucial blood donation camps. Reinforcing its commitment to community service, the university has also signed a MoU with the Indian Red Cross Society D.K. for collaborative initiatives.

YRC has had an exceptionally dynamic year, demonstrating a profound commitment to community service through a wide array of impactful initiatives. Beyond actively observing key calendar days such as World

Environment Day, World Health Day, and World Red Cross Day, the YRC successfully spearheaded a blood donation drive and organized crucial First Aid and Disaster Management training for its dedicated volunteers. A significant highlight of the year was the Indian Red Cross Society Help Desk Internship at District Government Wenlock Hospital, Mangaluru. This invaluable program offered our volunteers profound practical experience in a real-world humanitarian service setting, truly enriching their understanding and skills. Complementing this, the YRC also initiated a "Wisdom Sharing Day" through an Old Age Home Visit, fostered road safety with "Traffic Awareness Sessions" and practical involvement in "Traffic Enforcers Work at Kulur Junction", and conducted vital awareness campaigns including "Dengue Awareness, Prevention, and Control" and the "Kshayamuktha Abhiyana – 100 Days Programme" for tuberculosis (TB) awareness.

Furthermore, the units reinforced core values through a "Road Safety: Role Play" and an "Anti-Ragging: Role Play", alongside essential "Fire Safety Training" and environmental consciousness activities like "Prakruthi Path: Path of Nature".

The dedication and hard work of our YRC units received significant recognition at the district level. Three awards were received by constituent colleges. Yenepoya School of Allied Health Sciences, Mudipu, was honored with the prestigious "Best Youth Red Cross Unit - 2024 Award" and also secured First Place for "Best Performer" at the Indian Red Cross Society Help Desk Internship at District Government Wenlock Hospital, Mangaluru. Additionally, Yenepoya Physiotherapy College earned "Best Performer - 2024" Third Place for the year 2024-2025. These accolades, alongside the recognition of Ms. Akshitha, Program Officer, Yenepoya School of Allied Health Sciences, Mudipu, underscore the exceptional engagement and active participation of all constituent colleges' YRC volunteers in these crucial programs and internships.

STUDENT ACTIVITIES

Directorate of Student Affairs

Dr. Maji Jose

The Directorate of Student Affairs at Yenepoya (Deemed to be University) plays a vital role in ensuring the holistic development and overall welfare of students from the time of admission until they graduate. The Directorate acts as a bridge between students and administration, fostering a supportive, inclusive, and engaging environment for all students across the university's constituent units.

Student Induction & Mentorship

To support the transition of students from school to university life, the Directorate implements Deeksharambh - The Student Induction Program, aligned with UGC guidelines, across all constituent units. This well-structured program helps students adapt to their new environment, understand institutional values and culture, form meaningful connections with peers and faculty, and embark on a journey of self-exploration and purpose.

Complementing this is a robust Student Mentorship Program, where every student is assigned a dedicated faculty mentor to provide academic, personal, and professional guidance throughout their academic journey. Regular mentor-mentee meetings and annual parent-teacher-student interactions are integral to this initiative.

Student Mental Health & Well-being

The mental and emotional well-being of students is a priority. The Student Services Centre (SSC), established in January 2025, offers confidential counseling services to help students manage stress, anxiety, depression, time management, interpersonal issues, and more. In its first six months, SSC provided support to over 100 students. Additionally, in collaboration with Soul Up, the Directorate has hosted 15 therapist-led workshops, habit and support groups, sharing circles, and Mental Health First Aid Training, benefiting over 400 students. These programs empower students to become emotional first-aiders and build healthy coping mechanisms.

Student Council & Extracurricular Engagement

The Student Council, constituted annually across all constituent units as per university guidelines, fosters leadership, cultural enrichment, and student advocacy. For the academic year 2024-2025, the Council actively organized and executed initiatives promoting academic excellence, cultural celebration, social outreach, and personal development. The Council serves as a voice of the students, ensuring their concerns and aspirations are addressed.

Hostel and Residential Life

Deeksharambh

Student Induction Program - 2024

The "Deeksharambh - Student Induction Program" was successfully conducted across all constituent units of Yenepoya (Deemed to be University), serving as a foundation stone for helping newly admitted students transition smoothly into university life. The program was thoughtfully designed to create a welcoming atmosphere, acquaint students with the institution's ethos and culture, build strong connections among peers and faculty, and inspire students to explore themselves and their purpose.

For the 2024 batch, the induction program began promptly within each unit, before the commencement of regular classes. The sessions opened with detailed introductions to the university's policies, systems, practices, and core values. In line with UGC recommendations, the program included a comprehensive mix of activities addressing the core components of Socializing, Associating, Governing, and Experiencing. Through these sessions, students were systematically introduced to the university's Code of Conduct, institutional regulations, and various student support mechanisms.

A key feature of Deeksharambh was the opportunity it provided for new students to engage with senior students, the student council, and faculty members - encouraging a spirit of community and belonging. To help students familiarize to their new environment, guided campus tours and visits to significant departments and nearby locations were arranged. A major highlight was a series of expert talks on topics such as effective study strategies and universal human values, which offered valuable insights and inspiration.

Furthermore, the induction program introduced the university's mentorship framework. Students were grouped into mentor clusters and participated in interactive discussions aimed at promoting academic and personal growth. Complementing the academic orientation, a variety of small-group activities were also organized - ranging from physical fitness sessions and creative arts to literary and performing arts - making the entire experience comprehensive and engaging for the students.

Yenepoya Dental College successfully conducted the Deeksharambh - Student Induction Program for the 2024 BDS batch from 3rd to 9th October 2024 at the YDC Auditorium. This six-day program was designed to help newly admitted students transition smoothly into the academic environment by familiarizing them with the field of dentistry, the ethos of the college and university, and various academic and social aspects of student life.

Students were initially introduced to the various departments of the institution, key protocols, statutory bodies, examination patterns, and evaluation systems. Orientation sessions highlighted the university's anti-ragging policies, code of conduct, and the structured mentorship program. Additionally, interactive sessions on creative arts and cultural activities available at YDC allowed students to explore extracurricular opportunities. Mentors facilitated reflective discussions on the theme "Student Aspirations and Family Expectations," encouraging students to express their goals and understand the responsibilities they carry.

Further sessions provided a detailed overview of the evaluation processes followed throughout the undergraduate program, presented by the Student Evaluation Board. Essential topics such as the skills required for competent dental practice, managing stress, addressing common psychological challenges, and effectively utilizing library resources were covered. Students were introduced to the activities of the Red Cross Unit and the Yenepoya University Alumni Association (YUAA), while interns and postgraduate students shared valuable insights from their own journeys. A mentoring session on "Gratitude Towards People Who Help Me" promoted self-reflection and appreciation.

The focus then shifted to communication skills and social responsibility. Students engaged in discussions about the fundamental needs of the self and body, the significance of effective communication in academic life, and the impact of information and communication technology in learning. They also became familiar with the hospital's facilities and the National Service Scheme (NSS), fostering early awareness of community service and social engagement.

Wellness and human values were also key components of the program. Students attended sessions on the benefits of yoga, substance abuse prevention, and the ethical responsibilities of dentists within the community. They explored ways to cultivate a lifestyle centered on core human values. Sports activities were organized to promote physical well-being, followed by a mentoring session focused on managing peer pressure and navigating interpersonal relationships effectively.

To support personality development, sessions were conducted to enhance both academic and personal growth. During a mentoring discussion on "Prosperity," students were encouraged to reflect on holistic success. Later, a vibrant cultural program allowed students to showcase their talents, and certificates were distributed to acknowledge their active participation throughout the induction.

The program concluded with a group discussion on building and maintaining healthy relationships, facilitated by mentors. Students were then taken in smaller groups on a campus tour, including visits to various dental clinics and essential university facilities. The final cultural event celebrated the talents and enthusiasm of the newly admitted students, marking a memorable beginning to their academic journey at Yenepoya Dental College.

In alignment with the UGC guidelines for Deeksharambh and the Foundation Course mandated by the National Medical Commission (NMC), Yenepoya Medical College and Hospital conducted a 16-day long Deeksharambh - Student Induction Program for the 2024 batch of MBBS students from 14th October to 29th October 2024. Through a combination of guest lectures, small group discussions, and student-centric activities, a wide range of important topics were covered to introduce and sensitize the new students to various academic, professional, and personal development themes.

The program began with completion of admission formalities and orientation to anti-ragging measures implemented at Yenepoya Medical College (YMC). Students were briefed on campus rules and regulations, hostel guidelines, the mentorship system, and quality assurance practices. A hospital visit provided first-hand exposure to the role of physicians across various departments, including tours of wards, radiology, admission desk, laboratory, and blood bank.

Students were introduced to the Foundation Course, followed by sessions on team dynamics, ice-breaking activities, and departmental orientations. They met statutory officers and Heads of Departments, and participated in discussions on substance abuse and drug addiction, gender sensitization, women's safety in the workplace, and the importance of sports and physical well-being.

Further sessions provided an overview of the MBBS course structure and the concept of the Indian Medical Graduate (IMG). Focus was placed on interpersonal communication, listening skills, reflective writing, and professionalism. Interactive group activities emphasized the importance of interpersonal relationships within healthcare teams.

Community orientation sessions covered national health goals and policies, an introduction to medical ethics and humanities, basics of the Kannada language, and financial management skills. The institution's quality assurance systems were explained in detail.

Students were given a recap of the structure and ethos of Yenepoya Medical College, introduced to hospital facilities, and provided an overview of Yenepoya (Deemed to be University). Topics such as hostel rules, the societal role of doctors, substance abuse prevention, and sports activities were also covered.

Sessions on the use of Information and Communication Technology (ICT) in academics were held alongside continuing sports activities. Students received further orientation to the Foundation Course, an overview of the Learner-Doctor program in MBBS, and an introduction to AETCOM (Attitude, Ethics, and Communication). Batch ice-breaking activities took place, class representatives were selected, and additional sports sessions were organized.

Discussions included drug addiction prevention, the role of suicide helplines, quality assurance processes (NAAC), and documentation in logbooks and record books. Students were introduced to the role of physicians at different levels of healthcare delivery, library usage, feedback collection via IQAC, early clinical exposure, and community engagement skills.

Training sessions explored principles of family practice, reflective writing, techniques for giving and receiving feedback, and familiarized students with local culture and languages of Mangalore. Alternative systems of medicine were discussed, along with

The program emphasized altruism as a core virtue of physicians, featuring case-based learning on professional and ethical conduct, consequences of unprofessional behavior, self-directed learning (SDL) methods, and a history of medicine quiz.

Focus was given to disability competencies, proper documentation in patient care, and skills in using audiovisual media effectively, including PowerPoint preparation. Group discussions on teamwork in healthcare and ongoing sports activities were held.

Time management techniques and use of the "Action Priority Matrix" for productivity were taught. Students were reoriented to community health policies and participated in team-building activities that underscored the importance of interpersonal relationships in clinical settings.

Field visits to community health facilities provided real-world insights into outbreaks, epidemics, and pandemics, biomedical waste segregation, effective hand hygiene, use of personal protective equipment (PPE), and related safety practices.

Orientation to the skill lab covered biosafety protocols and universal precautions. Students were informed about immunization requirements for healthcare professionals and engaged in discussions on technology de-addiction. The significance of interpersonal communication and listening skills for clinical practice was reinforced.

The program concluded with a focus on promoting positive mental health. Students learned about stress management, the benefits of yoga and meditation for personal health, and participated in guided yoga practice.

The Deeksharambh 2024 program culminated on 29th October 2024 with the prestigious White Coat Ceremony and the solemn Cadaveric Oath, symbolizing the students' formal entry into the medical profession and their commitment to ethical medical practice.

Deeksharambh 2024 for the newly admitted students of the 2024 batch at Yenepoya Nursing College was held from 26th September to 3rd October 2024 at the Yendurance Zone. The six-day induction program was thoughtfully designed to introduce students to their academic journey, acquaint them with institutional policies, and foster awareness about various aspects of campus life and professional development.

The program began with a formal inaugural ceremony attended by the statutory officers of the university and senior faculty members of the college. This was followed by insightful sessions on maintaining a healthy lifestyle, an orientation to the YENGAGE learning platform and IT services, an overview of the Environmental Management System at Yenepoya, anti-ragging initiatives, and the importance of effective communication. Experienced resource persons led these sessions, offering valuable guidance to help students transition smoothly into college life.

Interactive activities such as self-introductions were organized to encourage peer bonding. Students were engaged in discussions on topics like gender sensitization, women's safety, the qualities of an ideal student, available healthcare services, library usage, and scholarship options. These sessions aimed to create a supportive and inclusive environment for all students.

Further sessions focused on institutional expectations and the responsibilities of students. Key topics included the university's Code of Conduct, hostel guidelines, the student mentorship program, and awareness about substance abuse prevention. Sports and yoga sessions highlighted the significance of maintaining physical health and achieving a balanced lifestyle.

As part of the program, students toured essential facilities on the Yenepoya campus, including the central library, the central kitchen and laundry services of Yenepoya Medical College Hospital, and the ACTS YEN community outreach center. These visits provided firsthand exposure to the support infrastructure available to them.

An educational and recreational trip to Someshwara Beach, accompanied by eight faculty members, offered students an opportunity to build informal relationships with their peers and mentors in a relaxed setting, reinforcing a sense of community.

The program concluded with a comprehensive orientation to the physical layout of Yenepoya Nursing College. Students were introduced to faculty members, college-level committees, and the subjects included in their nursing curriculum.

Overall, Deeksharambh 2024 offered a well-rounded foundation to help students embark on their academic journey with confidence, clarity, and a strong sense of belonging.
