PATTERNED EDUCATION SYSTEM

SCOPE OF THE PROGRAMME

There is an increasing demand for trained public health professionals to tackle the existing and emerging health-care challenges in the community. This programme aims at capacity building in Public Health both at the National and International levels.

Qualified MPH graduates will play a key role in organisations in the country and world alike.

SALIENT FEATURES OF MPH

Even though India has made extensive progress in the field of medicine, its benefits have failed to trickle down to the rural population. MPH thus help to nurture students to understand the health problems faced by the disadvantaged groups enabling them to develop and implement strategies to enhance community health, implement intervention programmes and produce data for planning, developing and implementing public health policies.

Yenepoya (Deemed to be University) provides world class experience in a pristine ambience and halcyon surroundings of a natural beauty while imbuing the best health care education for the overall development of the students.

DURATION OF COURSE

Period of 2 years divided into 4 semesters of 6 months each on a full time basis.
